Before you read about these products, please understand that the products do not get you waves. They only make the waves that you already have look better. I have to mention that first because many guys still ask me E X product good for 360 waves? or Can I get 360 waves with X product? I always have to answer and tell them that the product will not get them waves and that the product is good only if they like the way it makes their hair look. Also, many people should be allowed to know that they need to try more than one product so they can compare them to see what makes their hair look best. That being said, here are some of my favorite 360 wool products for men and women. 360WaveProcess Brush 360WaveProcess Wave Brush is a newly issued curved brush with medium hairs. This brush is designed with 360 Waver in mind. From the 3WP Wave logo to the brush curve. Just tilt the wool logo around the angle you want your waves to enter and then brush down. The logo is wear resistant and acts as a guide when washing in the mirror. The curved design of the contours of the brush to the shape of the head allows you to come into contact with more of your hair at one point. This effectively allows you to get waves faster with fewer strokes compared to a normal straight brush that does not have a curved hair structure. Each 3WP Brush comes with its own case so you can keep your brush when traveling. We all know that brush is the key, so you need to protect and keep your brush. Curving of the slings, improving the curve of the shaker when I used grease, and nothing else I didn't know what a good product was. I've heard so many things about Sheila's shaker. When I finally tried it for the first time, he actually came alive to the hip. At first I was not impressed with this product, because I felt like it was too light and I did nothing for my hair. After a while, I learned that it works better if you shake the container to mix the product before using it. I followed these instructions and immediately noticed the difference in how it affects my hair. Since then, this has been one of the products I use daily. I like smoothies to increase curls, because when I put it in my hair, my hair is left with a naturally hydrated appearance. I mean, my hair looks natural and hydrated all day, so I like it. I need to add, although it leaves my hair hydrated, the product does not hold and shine. As a result, I always use a little of the next product below, just to give my hair that extra shine and holding that are missing in perm shakes. However, this is a great product and I recommend to my waves to try it at least once to see if they like it compared to other products in wool. Sweet almond oil is one of my newest favorite hair products. It is basically essential oil produced by extracting oils from sweet almond seeds. The main reason it has become one of my favorites is because it manages to be simple while providing great benefits to my hair. When placed on her hair, the oil gives a natural and healthy shine. Another reason that Sweet Almond Oil has made the top of my favorite products list is because it doesn't seem to cause a product to build even when I use it daily. If you want to order any of these products I recommend you sign up and try Amazon Prime 30-day free trial thus you will get free 2-day shipping and save money when you buy any of these products online from Amazon. With Amazon Prime a 30-day free trial, you get the free 2-day shipping and you'll also get access to Amazon music that's like iMusic, and Amazon video, which is like Netflix. As already stated, this is one of my favorite products and I recommend all my waves to try it. As most of you know, I don't like fat or use it. Grestia collects a lot of dirt throughout the day, leaves the hair with a strange greasy glow and dries your hair, leaving it dry before the day ends. Almond oil leaves your hair with a natural shine and this continues throughout the day. Olive oil for hair in my videos, you guys have heard me talk about olive oil a lot. Olive oil is very good, but I don't use it anymore. I love olive oil because it gives my hair a natural glow that lasts all day. It does not cause product accumulation and this is another reason I like to use it. Although the i use it so much more I do my wavers try it specifically to replace it with grease. When I used olive oil, I put it in my hair once a day in the morning after going out in the shower. My hair would be damp, put the olive oil on and comb the waves in place. Taking care of your hair if you are going to use products daily, you should know that it is very important to stay on top of shampoo and conditioning schedule. Now I can tell you that for 360 waves it does not matter what shampoo and conditioner you use. If you use honey, you need to wash your hair three times a week to avoid the accumulation of products. If you use regular shampoo, then you need to wash your hair no more than three times a week. If you use free sulfate, all natural shampoo, then you can wash your hair every day with it. The reason you do not wash your hair every day with ordinary shampoo is because it is made with a chemical called sulfate. Sulfate is acid, and that's what causes shampoo to soak. It's a raw chemical that damages your scalp because it's so strong it washes away the natural oils your skin produces. Therefore, the muse, use conditioner after shampooing your hair. The conditioner returns some of the oils and moisture that shampoo washes away. PS: Make sure you let the balm sit for 15 minutes and then rinse it. You need to rinse the conditioner unless it's in a balm. With the information above, you already know that it doesn't matter what shampoo and conditioner you get when it comes to getting waves, but if you want to keep your hair healthy rather than damage it by using shampoos that contain sulfates, I recommend washing. Joint washing is basically an act of washing hair with balm. You can wash with a simple balm, but it may not be as useful as using specially made for joint washing. Coconut co-washing balm, my favorite co-washing conditioner is coconut cleansing balm, from AS I AM. If you want to keep your hair as healthy as possible, or if you want to wash your hair every day, then I recommend to your Co-Wash your hair. You can wash your hair daily, because it will not disassemble your hair from natural oils, as well as shampoos containing sulfate. If you use pomads, then you may need to wash your hair with regular shampoo and then trace with regular balm, because pomades are very strong and from my experience Joint washing, Co-wash fails to completely remove the smear from the hair. However, if you use other products such as shaker, wool oil and scalp, olive oil or any other product that is not as heavy as pomade, then co-washing will be great for you. Add that with a large medium fork breaker brush like this fiery orange edition and will be ready to go
